OERC MEMBERS represent a diverse group of organizations with a common interest in complex human-machine systems, commonly referred to as office ergonomics. Since 1991, member companies have combined knowledge and resources to both encourage and support the study of the many factors involved in this system. A fuller understanding of this interaction facilitates better product designs and more comfortable and productive human users.

BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP INCLUDE:

* Research targeted at your information needs
* Professional development
* Access to experts in office ergonomic issues
* Global research conference

GET INFORMATION YOU NEED TO DO YOUR JOB

As an OERC member, each year you determine the information needs of greatest interest to your company and direct the means that OERC uses to provide you with answers. Whether those answers come from interaction with peers, experts who present at OERC meetings or from targeted research funded by OERC, you gain access to a valuable and unique source of information.

MAXIMIZE THE RETURN ON YOUR MEMBERSHIP INVESTMENT

OERC meetings are small and collegial. Members interact with a Who's Who list of members and outside experts at a level and intensity of engagement that simply isn't available elsewhere. Applying the insights that you gain from this unique source of information to develop solutions – whether it's designing a new product and bringing it to market or in designing a safe and productive work environment - enhances your value and provides a many-fold return on investment to your employer.

GAIN NEW INSIGHTS AT THE MARCONI CONFERENCE

OERC sponsors the Marconi Conference, a research conference that brings together members and subject area experts from around the world to discuss member-selected issues of interest. With a small group of participants in residence in a retreat type setting, each OERC member has ample opportunity to participate in formal lecture and question sessions as well as to continue the discussions with experts and peers informally during a hike or over dinner.

Take OERC for a test drive

If you are interested in membership in OERC, we invite you to join us as a guest at our next meeting. There's no better way to assess the benefits of membership than by test-driving the leading minds in office ergonomics.
